Social Studies: Making the World Safe for Democracy calls attention to the crucial role the social studies disciplines and our teachers play in the ongoing transformation of the American Republic. Social studies educators are the linchpin keeping our country safe for democracy and ensuring our students can bear the torch of freedom well into the future! As social studies educators, we understand the significance of World War I in transforming the United States a hundred years ago. Our conference theme honors the American military's contributions to our freedom, safety, and liberty.
